Objective

This proposal seeks the consolidation and further expansion of a Mediterranean marine forecasting system based upon the elements implemented during a previous EU funded Project. The goal is to advance the monitoring technology to achieve maximum reliability of the observing system, to demonstrate the practical feasibility of regional and shelf scale forecasting in several Mediterranean sub-regions and to start the development of end-users interfaces for the exploitation of the project products. The proposal is called 'Mediterranean Forecasting System Toward Environmental Predictions-MFSTEP' because it introduces elements of a multidisciplinary and multiparametric observing system, together with the modelling components that will allow, in a successive phase, to carry out deterministic marine biochemical elements predictions.
